DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 20-25 remain withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on 23 August 2006.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

4. Claims 1-9, 11-19 and 26-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Droscher et al (U.S. Patent 6,243,616 B1) in combination with Lause et al (U.S. Patent 5,338,611 A) for the reasons of record.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed on 05 November 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

6. Applicant argues (page 11) that Lause et al is referenced by the examiner as further disclosing water as a thermal transmitter. Examiner responds that that is not the reason Lause et al was cited in rejecting the instant claims. To reiterate, Droscher et al does not explicitly teach selectively applying at least one microwave-absorbing first susceptor to one or more regions of a substrate, wherein the microwave-absorbing first susceptor is, in essence, a thermal transmitter. Droscher et al does teach (see col. 5, lines 9-11 of Droscher et al) that water is used as a thermal transmitter for improving heat flow. Lause et al teaches applying at least one microwave-absorbing first susceptor (e.g., carbon black) to one or more regions of a substrate, and it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the disclosures of Droscher et al and Lause et al principally in order to generate sufficient heat to fuse the particulate material and form the desired product. Furthermore, the substitution of one known material (i.e., a thermal transmitter such as carbon black) for another known material (i.e., a thermal transmitter such as water) would have yielded predictable results (e.g., thermal transmission when a material is heated by a microwave source, as taught by both Droscher et al and Lause et al) to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made (KSR International Co. v. Teleflex Inc., 550 U.S. ____, 82 USPQ2d 1385 (2007)).

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
